

1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Our retail strategy is currently performing exceptionally well, with a 100.0% probability of success, indicating that we are on track to meet our target goals. The strategy gap to target is $0, suggesting that our current performance is aligned with our objectives, and we are not experiencing any significant shortfalls. This is further reinforced by our target goal of $142, which is well within reach based on our current trajectory. Overall, our retail strategy is demonstrating a high degree of effectiveness, and we are poised to achieve our desired outcomes.

The stability of our Average Order Value, which remains steady at $109.48, is a key indicator of the health of our transaction volumes. The low volatility across all customer segments is particularly noteworthy, as it suggests that our customer base is consistent and reliable. This stability is a testament to the effectiveness of our retail strategy, which is clearly resonating with our customers. With healthy transaction volumes and a high probability of strategy success, we are well-positioned to continue driving growth and achieving our target goals. As we move forward, it will be essential to continue monitoring our performance and making adjustments as needed to ensure that we remain on track to meet our objectives.
